Working Gaffers [VHS] Classic boat

In the UK and Ireland gaff-rigged boats, with their distinctive rectangular sails, were once a familiar sight. Although the diesel engine has now replaced sail for most working boats, many old gaffers remain, some well over a hundred years old. Most have been rescued and restored to their original condition by dedicated enthusiasts. We explore the history of these boats and show you in detail what they are like to sail. We talk to those who remember working with them in their youth, as well as those who have restored them. Experienced traditional wooden boat-builders tell you how these boats were originally made and what is involved in restoring them. A specialist sail-maker also demonstrates the craft of traditional sail-making and explains how to get the best from a gaff rig.
